Alberta Leading World Democracy Byrne Declares

Social Credit Expert Hands Reporters Statement as He Reaches Quebec on Way to Edmonton and Government Post

QUEBEC, Nov. 1.—L. D. Byrne, British Social Credit expert, handed reporters a typewritten statement Sunday as he arrived from England to take up a position with the Alberta Social Credit government. The statement follows:

Canadians very properly resent outside interference. You resent persons coming here and attempting to tell you how to run your own affairs and in this I am completely with you. Therefore my views on the Alberta situation should be taken merely as those of an observer who has been making a close study of the position and I have no desire to force my opinions on any person.

37 WILL SEEK CIVIC OFFICE NOVEMBER 10

Five to Contest Mayoralty, 19 Seek Alderimic Board Seats

Thirty-seven candidates—the largest number in the history of Edmonton municipal elections—will contest mayoralty, alderimic and school board seats in the November 10 elections. According to the list of nominations received up to 10 o'clock Monday, the deadline for nominations, names of candidates were officially received by Returning Officer Alfred Russell, city clerk, between 11 a.m. and 10 p.m. Monday.

There are a few "dark horses" in the election line-up, including Frederick James Speck, who will contest the mayoralty as an Independent.

The list of nominations includes five mayoralty, 19 alderimic, nine Public School board and four Separate School board candidates. As there are four vacancies on the Separate School board, the nominees were elected by acclamation and there will therefore be no election of Separate School trustees.

DEC. 2 DATE SET FOR VOTE IN LETHBRIDGE

Mayorality Contestants: Mr. Joseph A. Clarke, "Edmonton First"; John S. Cowling, Independent; John W. Fry, Citizens' ticket; (Patterson, Civic Progress ticket, and F. J. Speed, Independent.

Candidate Speck announced Monday he would run on a "New Deal" platform. While his candidature needs proper qualifications, the charter specifies that candidates must also have resided in the city continuously for a year prior to nomination day. It is claimed Mr. Speck has been holding in the United States for several months.

His nomination papers were accepted, however, by Returning Officer Russell.

Candidate deciding to withdraw from the elections must file such withdrawal in writing with the returning officer at the Civic Block before 10 a.m. Tuesday. Their names will appear on the ballot otherwise.

Of the 19 alderimic candidates, six are running on the Progressive ticket; six on the Citizens' ticket; and seven on the Independent ticket.

BLIND RESISTANCE

As I see it, the problem of Alberta is the problem of Canada, and the problem of Canada is the problem of the world. This problem is centered in the universal fact that everywhere the debt structure is a financial system which produces such results.

BLIND RESISTANCE

The financial system is responsible for the world's plight and while there is even a faint recognition of the fact there must be a radical change in the economic arrangement of countries if our civilization is to survive, there is a blind resistance to any serious attempt to bring about a change permeating among the nations.

New legislation Held Ultra Vires As In Former Act

Hands Newspaper Statement as He Reaches Quebec on Way to Edmonton and Government Post

Finding that in pith, substance and intent the Provincial Guaranteed Securities Interest Act 1937 was enacted by the Alberta legislature for but one purpose and dealt with but one matter—the reduction of interest, on government guaranteed bonds to 50 per cent of their guaranteed face value—Mr. Justice A. F. Ewing, in a judgment handed down in supreme court Saturday, declared the legislation ultra vires of the provincial legislature because it purposed to legislate exclusively on interest, a field reserved to the Federal parliament by section 91, sub-section 19 of the British North America Act.

Judgment Given for Plaintiff

George H. Steer, K.C., and Ronald Martland acted for the Forsters' Order with W. S. Gray, K.C., and H. J. Wilson, K.C., for the provincial government.

Judgment for $5,430, interest due May, 1937, was given in favor of the plaintiff. Payment of interest from due date on that amount was also ordered. A declaration that the Forsters' Order was entitled to the principal sum of $5,430 and a writ of execution issued to enforce payment of the judgment of Mr. Justice W. C. Ives awarding the order $5,430 and interest from due date in connection with November, 1936 dividend was made absolute.

Courts Still Are Accessible

The Provincial Guaranteed Securities Proceedings Act, 1937, passed by the provincial legislature to prohibit the bringing of any action in any court of the province in respect of any such securities, was found ultra vires of the provincial legislature in so far as it prevents a plaintiff from seeking to enforce rights in connection with subjects exclusively reserved to Federal jurisdiction.

Alberta Affects Canada, Britain, U. S.

Its Social Credit Or Communism Says Byrne's Statement

Very people to whom the world is looking for a lead.

This brings me to the Alberta situation. Alberta is a richly endowed province. Its natural resources are immense and, properly developed, could provide every Albertan with complete security. By its side, with its abundant resources there is an employment problem—available jobs to develop these resources. Yet the great majority of the people in Alberta are poverty-stricken, they are faced with a dire situation that cannot be met under existing conditions and their intolerable plight.

Thus financially they are destitute, surrounded by an abundance of real wealth. The people could do with their resources should enable them to have secure freedom—not less than most but more for a social credit system.

TAX REDUCTION

As I understand it, at the last provincial election the people of Alberta elected their present representatives with the very clear intention that these representatives should obtain for them a sufficient security in the form of industry dividends of $25 and a lower living cost. This would of course involve drastic tax reductions and a satisfactory arrangement for both the state and the individual. It is the duty of the government to see that the people of Alberta are not denied the results they wanted and did not concern themselves with methods. Through the government which they elected was a social credit government.

The people did not vote for Social Credit but for a $25 a month and a lower living cost. That is what they voted for the result and not the method. In this they acted as a true democracy—in the modern world.

The essence of true democracy is that the people should define policy—that is, specify the results they want—leaving it to experts to determine the method.

KNOW ITS WEALTHY

The people of Alberta know their own wealth. They know it is not the land, but the people of Alberta who are the source of their wealth. They know that the land is not the source of their wealth, but the people of Alberta who are the source of their wealth.

They know that because these things were done on profit, it would be unnecessary to take from the land the source of their wealth. There was no need for all. They know that the land is not the source of their wealth, but the people of Alberta who are the source of their wealth.

They know that the land is not the source of their wealth, but the people of Alberta who are the source of their wealth. They know that the land is not the source of their wealth, but the people of Alberta who are the source of their wealth.

Hello France

It seems to me that the people of Alberta and of every other province in Canada have a right to know what the government is doing for them. It is the duty of the government to see that the people of Alberta are not denied the results they wanted and did not concern themselves with methods. Through the government which they elected was a social credit government.

It is surprising to me that the people of Canada do not know what the government is doing for them. REBEL PLANE BOMBS SINK BRITISH SHIP

Crew Given Five Minutes To Leave Vessel—Found in Flames

VALENTIA, Nov. 1.—A seaman who survived the sinking of the British freighter, Jan Weems, declared today a pirate airplane "bearing black and red flags" and "bearing machine-guns" had sunk the vessel and took it with bombs.

The 2,400-ton freighter, bound from Marseille, France, for Barcelona, Spain, with a cargo of wheat and condensed milk for Spanish government purchases, was sunk in the Mediterranean Saturday, 16 miles off the coast of Catalonia province. The crew of 26 reached shore in boats.

PHONES ACCOUNT

William Hambroff, a Scotian sailor, telephoned an account of the disaster from a coastal village where the crew was saved for the government-owned Mediterranean coast of Spain.

"I gave me five minutes to take to my boat, saying it is in danger in a high north of the sea. The last boat had just been sunk when the first bomb was dropped."

The explosion dropped 16 bombs. Hambroff said a large object fell in the ship's number four hold, and the ship was hit in the stern first, 15 minutes later.

TWO OBSERVERS

Two men, which included two non-intervention committee observers, spent 45 hours in small boats in the sea, and were rescued by the British ship.

Although the attacking airplane was a biplane painted with the words "Axis and crossbones" markings.

The airplane disappeared in the distance of Mallorca, Barcelona, and the crew of the ship was rescued.

Italian Envoy Quits Paris at Behest of Duce

Non-Recognition of King as Emperor of Ethiopia Believed to be at Back of Latest Situation

PARIS, Nov. 1.—Premier Mussolini recalled his ambassador to France Saturday, placing delicate Italy-French relations in the hands of a minor official.

Ambassador Vittorio Cerutti of Italy left for Rome last night for a leave of absence of "more or less long duration." Baron Angelo Scialoja, minister of the embassy, also is leaving his post.

The sudden recall was made, a usually well-informed diplomatic source said, because France had failed to send an ambassador to Rome and left a charge d'affaires in control of Italian relations rather than recognize the Fascist conquest of Ethiopia.

TAKES VACATION

Cerutti notified the foreign minister he was leaving a charge d'affaires to handle Italian relations with France and after his departure the foreign office issued a communique.

"The Italian ambassador has been known in the foreign ministry that he has been invited by the government to leave on vacation."

Diplomatic sources said they believed the recall would be as far as the ambassador's departure was concerned. The Premier Mussolini's sense of prestige in the Italian press and the Italian public in Paris to be on the same level as the Emperor of Ethiopia.

PART OF SHIP-UP

In Rome, informed quarters said the Cerutti move was part of a concerted Italian diplomatic shape-up. These unofficial reports said Cerutti would probably be replaced by Romano Prosser, now in the Rome foreign ministry.

An Italian official here said "Prosser, former foreign secretary in the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, has been known in Italy as a competent diplomat. He is not a 'left' man, as the Emperor of Ethiopia is well known in Italy."

He said France refused to accept as a member of the League of Nations which 600 countries have joined as Emperor of the Italian-occupied empire.

D'ANNUNZIO POST CAUSES STRAIN WITH VATICAN

ROME, Nov. 1.—Elevation of the poet Gabriele D'Annunzio to the first-grade office of president of the Royal Academy of Italy has created a storm of controversy over the cultural relations between the pontifical and Italian governments.

D'Annunzio, who succeeded the late Guglielmo Marconi as president of the academy, has not yet been recognized by the Vatican and it is doubtful if the Pope will receive him in audience, either on official or private occasions, as he received his predecessor.

Announcement by Mussolini of D'Annunzio's appointment seemed considerable surprise for all his writings have been condemned by the "index," and are included among the prohibited books Catholics are advised not to read.

An Italian official here said "Prosser, former foreign secretary in the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, has been known in Italy as a competent diplomat. He is not a 'left' man, as the Emperor of Ethiopia is well known in Italy."

He said France refused to accept as a member of the League of Nations which 600 countries have joined as Emperor of the Italian-occupied empire.

QUICK TRUCE IN SINO STRIFE BRUSSELS AIM SAYS HORNBY

Secretary Eden Will Represent Britain at Porten- tious Meeting

BRUSSELS, Nov. 1.—Members of the United States delegation to the Brussels conference on the Chinese-Japanese conflict said today Great Britain and the United States had been in close touch for the time being in search for a method to achieve a quick armistice in the Far East.

The author of the "Morsby Plan" of colonization, returning from the Empire Migration and Development conference in London, declared the "unorganized, haphazard migration of the past will be individual facilities for settlement and inadequate financing, is not likely to be resumed in the future."

There was a call, he said, for "stringent immigration regulations in all dominions, which are not likely to be changed again for the 'open door'."

"Empire migration of the future," he said, "must be properly organized. It is useless to continue talk of principles and policies, and even of financing, in the abstract. Plans must be formulated. The important step is for the governments concerned to get together and draft a definite plan or plans."

"We must have our friends in the parliaments of the empire to bring all the influence possible to bear on governments to take up a definite line of action."

Japanese Absent

Japan failed to attend the Brussels meeting because the original impetus came from the League of Nations, and Japan is not a member of the League.

AT 60

Here is the "Security at 60"
Plan for Young Men

This plan of life insurance has been devised for the young men who want to provide adequate protection for their family during the years when children are growing up, and also create a fund that will guarantee a monthly income for himself after age 60.

For example, if you are age 10 the annual premium to provide $2,000 of protection with the option of taking a pension of $10 monthly for yourself at age 60 is only $55.16. For each additional $1,000 of protection and $5 monthly pension the annual premium is only $28.51. There are no premium payments after age 60.

The pension is payable throughout your lifetime. It is guaranteed for 10 years and in case of your death during that period the balance will be paid to your beneficiary.

At age 60 should you want to surrender your policy for its cash value you will receive $7,000 plus dividends for each $1,000.

Or the company will pay $120.00 in cash for each $1,000 and continue the policy. In the latter case the cash payments or the monthly income will be increased over the guaranteed figures.

Dividends earned may be used to reduce premium payments, or allowed to accumulate. In the latter case the cash payments or the monthly income will be increased over the guaranteed figures.

It will be to your advantage to fill in and mail the coupon for complete information about this policy at your age.

RAND LEADS

Led by a brass band more than 250 voices joined in singing as the men with whom he has worked for the past 22 years gave "Bill" his "send-off."

Earlier in the afternoon the "6 o'clock shift" got Bill aside from his work long enough to make a presentation of their own.

Bill's trip about the yard Bill had been accustomed to carry on his own, with which he pointed out the things which needed attention. The boys had taken this time to make a presentation of their own. WAGNER ON STAND

It called on to meet its liabilities for unemployment relief and other social services the town would be bankrupt, stated E. W. Wagner, mayor, in giving evidence before the board covering several years prior to the appointment of Nicholas Mackie as administrator.

Mr. Mackie adduced evidence which showed the town was in a desperate financial plight in 1932, and was also in default on its debentures as far back as 1927.

The Inquiring Reporter

Repeated inquiries from Japanese and British sources in China prompted The Bulletin's Inquiring Reporter to ask: "What the killing of British soldiers by Japanese in China last week?"

He received the following answer:

HEB REB, returned soldier: It is possible that a clash of arms between the two countries resulted from these incidents, many of which would appear designed to provoke British aggression. I should not be surprised to see a clash.

TOM HARDY, salesman: I do not look for any war between the British and Japan. British soldiers are not going to be killed by Japanese soldiers. I should not be surprised to see a clash.

BILL GREFFIN, returned soldier: To there will be no war between British and Japan. British soldiers are not going to be killed by Japanese soldiers. I should not be surprised to see a clash.

FRED JENNINGS, carpenter: It is about time the British government should show some sense. It cannot continue to accept these incidents without some show of real force. Public opinion in Britain may force a reluctant government to take stern measures. I should not be surprised to see a clash.

M. R. T. ENDS OPERATIONS FOR SEASON

All boats of the Mackenzie River Transport, subsidiary of the Hudson's Bay company, which operate on the Athabasca, Slave and Mackenzie rivers, have finished their season's work and have been pulled out of the water for the winter. It was learned from James Woodliff, agent at Fort Smith, Mr. Woodliff and H. M. Petty, agent at Waterways, arrived in Edmonton Saturday.

Overcome by emotion, Wyman thanked his friends, then sat down amid thunderous applause.

Up-river freight was carried but a small amount for down river has been left on the docks at Chipewyan, complete with a fishing job and reel. Tiger Al Arrives

Farr Next Champ

Herculean Angus

LAST night Tiger Al, the classy welter who will battle Mickey McGuire here Saturday, dropped into the office and was chosen for a spell about cauliflower ears, rights and lefts, and kyoze socks. When Al finally pulled out for his hotel and the respectable night sleep a fighter should have, we had a new slant on Joe Louis, the champion of the big boys.

While Tiger Al and Joe are close friends and Al was in the Bomber's camp while he trained for all his big battles so far, Tiger Al was used as a "spit man." He and another good boxer fought in the camp while Joe Louis looked on under the direction of Blackburn and learned what to do and what not to do. These pointers also worked out various defenses and attacks that Blackburn was experimenting with. Louis took a liking to mixing Tiger and made him his traveling companion. Accordingly is a lad who should know where he speaks.

"This guy Farr looks like the next world champion," declared Lewis. "He's awkward and he hasn't much punch, but he's as strong as a bull and can take it." Wow! Tiger Al has him square on the button with his left hook and the big Welshman never batted an eye. I'm telling you there isn't another fighter in the United States who can take that left hook of Joe's and stay on his feet."

"Next champ? How come? What's the matter with Louis?" we demanded.

Whereupon Tiger Al confirmed the theory we advanced in this column after taking a gander at the Louis-Farr fight picture. Joe has lost his incentive.

"It's like this," Tiger explained. "Louis is a swell young fellow who has made all the dough he ever need and he's won himself all the fame there may be in the world. He just wants to take it easy and enjoy himself. He doesn't like to win and battering some guy all to pieces. It isn't his nature. He's something like Tommy that way only Gene liked big shot action and Joe just wants to be around with the boys like he's doing now with his touring school team."

Incidentally, this football tour is turning out to be a gold mine for Joe. The squad is playing exhibition games in all the large cities in the United States with Joe fetching in first prize. He's been paid in 10,000 dollars, at Los Angeles he took 14,000 and so on. Their prices scale down from $10 to 30 cents.

Typical Louis Stunt

TIGER AL related dozens of things Joe has done out of the kindness of his heart without the public ever hearing of them. This one is typical of them all. Just after Joe established his first training camp at the little town of Pompton Lakes there was a bad motor crash and a car piled into a building because the nearest ambulance was 16 miles away. Had there been an ambulance in the town to rush him to a hospital he might have been saved.

A few days later Louis was talking to the mayor and discovered that the town did not have enough money to buy an ambulance. Joe promptly suggested that he and his camp take a show on the ball park and raise some funds for the town. The show was a success and the ball park spots with hand bills and the park was jammed. Joe boxed four rounds, sang and danced, while his camp boys did other stunts. The gross receipts were $10,000. Joe turned this over to the town, bought the best ambulance on the market, erected a garage for it and there was enough left over to keep it running for years to come.

Angus McAskil Was a Man

THIS other day we mentioned a few facts of strength performed by Louis Cyr, the French-Canadian giant, and how he was the strongest man of his time, one of which there are any authentic records. This paragraph brought a highly-interesting letter from Don Carmichael of Stony Plain, in which he tells of some of the feats of Angus McAskil, who was his mother's cousin.

McAskil was known as the Cape Breton Giant—and that was no idle compliment. Angus asked seven feet nine inches tall and weighed 425 pounds. His normal chest measurement was 40 inches and he was 36 inches across the shoulders in front. His hands were 14 inches long and eight inches wide. With such dimensions Angus had to have all his muscles especially made. Many pieces of it are now on display in a museum in Boston.

Here are a few of McAskil's feats. He shouldered a ship's anchor weighing 2,000 pounds. While travelling with a circus in the United States he lifted 100 lbs. of lead with one hand. His finger and held it in front of him at arm's length for 15 minutes.

However, Angus was a canny Scot and he often put his herculean strength to use on the family farm. One day he and his brother were plowing with a span of oxen and one of the critics became sick. Angus took the animal's place and pulled the team through the season. Following the fact the Cape Breton Giant spread far and wide. One day a professional strong man from the States came along and challenged Angus to a wrestling match. Angus accepted, but the match started they met in the center of the ring and shook hands. McAskil accepted so hard that the blood dripped from all ends of the American's finger nails. He knuckled the match without taking any more chances. He was not strong enough to throw one of these barrels up out of the hold. That was nothing less than an insult to the McAskil. He jumped down into the hold through the hatch, seized a barrel and threw it up through the hatch and clean over the side of the ship into the sea. Just to show them it was no accident, he sent five more barrels flying after the first before the captain came below deck to stop the ship from being swamped.

McAskil died at the age of 35 years in 1867.

Canadian Grapplers Will Engage

The week-end brought a letter from Ed Barker, the fourth Edmonton boy to go to England as a pro wrestler. Ed is just getting underway. He has had four matches already and the clippings indicate that he went over like a hot iron. He expects to be working regularly within the next couple of weeks.

Ed says that England is fairly swarming with Canadian wrestlers, the natives being good themselves. Jack Jackson, Ed Kingston and Johnny Demchuk are all working regular now on major cards. Demchuk is so much in demand that he has signed a full-time contract with Lane's.

Fellow Jockeys

LONDON, Nov. 1.—Winnifred Jockeys toasted the veteran Steve Donoghue at a complimentary dinner here Sunday. Following the dinner Donoghue did not take place until Nov. 27. "Someone has to ride the Manxman," Donoghue said. "I'm a Manxman," chuckled the 35-year-old Doyen of the turf who is to become a third tribute to the little Irish runner from the Earl of Londonderry who declared Donoghue will be laid in Winnipeg in January, the year of the centennial of the Englishman's brilliant 51 victory over Ireland eight days ago. Walter Hogg, November 1937, the Manxman's last season, was defeated by Donoghue.

Donoghue is the son of a horse breeder whose riding there had never been the slightest reflection.

In one of the most sensational battles that the season has produced on an Edmonton course, Jim Montfield and Doug Kilburn defeated Duane Bary and Steve Vickers of Calgary here Sunday afternoon for the 27th Elton Company challenge golf trophy after carrying the match to the 20th hole.

Some idea of the closeness of the struggle can be gathered from the fact that 11 of the 18 holes played were halved. The calibre of the play was all the more apparent in the chilly weather. All four competitors played a shot occasionally and each of them picked up at least one. Of the four, Jim Montfield made the most consistent game. He was even par for the first 10 holes and then he made a birdie on the 11th to win the match.

YOUNG WIFE LOSES LEGS IN TRAIN MISHAP

HUMBOLDT, Sask., Nov. 1.—The wife of S. J. Rollins of Portage La Prairie, Manitoba, lost both her legs under a freight train here at 4:30 o'clock yesterday morning. Husband and wife were traveling as transients on a through freight from Kamouritz. The train stopped on entering the Humboldt yard, and the couple alighted. When the train started they made an attempt to board it again. The engineer heard her screams and stopped the train. A doctor was called and the victim was taken to the hospital here. One leg had been ground off below the knee, the other had to be amputated above the knee.

Three Killed In R.A.F. Plane Crash

LONDON, Nov. 1.—Two Royal Air Force officers and an aircrewman were killed last night in a crash landing of a Hawker Hurricane fighter plane at Khor Gorin, Iraq. Victims were Wing-Commander Aubrey Robert Maxwell Richards, Pilot-Officer Robert Henry MacFarlane, the pilot, and Aircrewman Leslie George O'Leary.

PERIOD WILL BE REMINDER OF IMPORTANCE

The week of Oct. 29 to Nov. 4 has been set aside as National Cheese Week throughout Canada, the object being to remind Canadian citizens of this wholesome and economical commodity which is manufactured from the product of one of Canada's important industries, the dairies.

Cheese is composed of all the solids of milk, except the sugar. A few drops of a ferment, called rennet, is added to the milk, and a large quantity of milk in a short time... Cheese is really a concentrated form of milk, for 1 pound of cheese is produced from 1 gallon (about 10 lbs.) of milk. It is thus specially rich in fat and protein. Old cheese is very digestible, preferably it should be three or four months old before being eaten. Further, it is one of the most concentrated foods known, and contains a great deal of nourishment, in fact there is nearly as much food value in one pound of cheese as there is in two pounds of meat.

And now a few words as to the value of cheese as an article of diet. There is no doubt that cheese is both palatable and nutritious, and its adaptability in its use as a meat-replacement, if it is capable of making adaptations in its use as a meat-replacement, is not to be underestimated. It is a valuable source of energy producing units, and is an economical source of protein. Its low cost puts a highly nutritive food well within reach of every food-lover, no matter how slender the purse may be.

Cheese may be used alone, in combination with other foods, as the main dish of a meal, and whenever utilized in this way other protein foods should be reduced to a minimum. Because cheese is rich in protein, it should be combined with carbohydrate or starchy foods. These, with the addition of the leafy and root vegetables, and dried all fruits, are an excellent combination for the maintenance of a reasonable and well-balanced diet.

YVONNE TOPS LOT IN MENTAL ACHIEVEMENT

All Five Retarded in Language Development, Scientists Find

CALLANDER, Ont., Nov. 1.—Science today is moving to study the Dionne Quintuplets moved into Callander yesterday for a visit with the famous babies whose development 300 child specialists, psychologists and students studied and discussed at a day-long meeting in Toronto Saturday.

These five Callander in a special train, spending 10 hours traveling to have two hours at the Deane nursery, 2 1/2 miles from here. They left Toronto early Sunday morning and returned here last night.

ENDS WITH DINNER
Dr. A. E. Duff, the children's physician, closed the busy day at Toronto with a dinner address in which he said "the scientific side is all very well but the human side is infinitely more important so far as I am concerned."

The welfare of the children came first. "If science can learn anything of value after that is taken care of then I am quite happy," he said.

The scientists, said Dr. Duff, had field day arguing over charts and forms. Much of the material brought out was "way over my head because after 10 years in the country doctor." He evaded their queries "I refer to some from drawings."

TO FIVE CHILDREN
But he had Dr. Duff said, something infinitely superior. "I have seen the marvelous development of these little girls from pitiful little specks of premature life to normal, healthy, happy children."

Dr. Duff concluded with the statement the quintuplets' guardians are "looking forward hopefully to the time when the Dionne family will be under our roof again, for when that would be he could not say at present but it is the real toward which the guardians were striving."

The dinner topped off a day in which the 200 doctors and scientists heard and discussed seven papers prepared by Dr. Duff, his brother, Dr. William Duff, of the University of Toronto, and pediatrician Dr. J. P. Duff, of the University of Toronto.

Dr. Duff's presentation of the quintuplets resemble each other more closely than any other set of children ever studied by science.

Tuesday Will Witness the Opening Of New Radio Station at Gde. Prairie

Special to The Bulletin
GRAND PRÉ, Nov. 1.—Following a spirited debate U.F.A. provincial association Grand Prairie, convening here Friday afternoon taking any political action at this time.

Hugh Allen, former U.F.A. member of the legislature, declared his conviction of thought that existed in Alberta today in regard to Dominion and provincial politics. Dominion right over the provinces were clearly defined, he said, and any attempt to break them was futile. Within the narrow field of provincial affairs, he believed that an independent candidate free of party politics, would be best for all. Several others endorsed their sentiment.

Opposing views delegates who were fearful that the organization would lose its identity by joining forces with those whose ideas were as opposed to their own. The resolution was finally passed as above. The new league school will be in charge of the school system in far considerable criticism.
